Andrew Monaco reported on concerns about striping at 9th and Ellsworth. Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) reviewed the issue and agreed improvements could help but noted no current funding is available; they will re-evaluate if funding becomes available. The commission also discussed statewide transportation funding challenges, including a potential gas tax measure on the November ballot and legislative proposals that could impact ODOT funding and the current 50-30-20 revenue split between state, counties, and cities. Streitberger advised commissioners to stay informed and consider discussing these issues with their nominating councilors.
